LÄÄKÄRILEHTI

Missions of Academic Health Centers and Medical Companies.

Mission of Academic Health Center

- Conduct basic research to understand the mechanisms of disease and human functioning
- Train graduate students and fellows to become independent investigators who can compete effectively for funding from the National Institutes of Health
- Promote evidence-based medicine and independent critical judgment by physicians
- Provide cost-effective care to patients and achieve a profit margin from clinical care that can be used to subsidize other activities
- Improve public health, global health, and care for orphan diseases for which patients seek care at the hospital

Mission of Drug, Medical Device, or Biotech Company

- Develop new products that will generate profits for the company
- Encourage graduate students and fellows to carry out research on the company's promising products for development
- Develop marketing strategies to improve sales and profits
- Increase profits through increased sales of products
- Work on issues of public health and global health and on treatments for orphan diseases if it fits the company's business model or plan for charitable giving or enhances its reputation
